

On new page 18 following the claims, please insert the following:

SPLIT BATTERY SUPPLY

Abstract of the Disclosure

A headset system has a headset for direct wireless communication of audio data with a communication terminal and including a first power supply unit. The system includes a headset carrying device and a charger for charging the first power supply unit from a second power supply unit. The headset carrying device includes the charger and the second power supply unit, and the headset carrying device is separate from the communication terminal.